DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Boys (US 2002/0001303 A1).

Regarding claim 1, Boys discloses a contents reproducing apparatus with telephone function (Internet radio device with IP telephony), comprising:

a reproducing means for selectively reproducing a telephone voice signal and a first content signal (IP telephony mode switch 803 enables toggle capability between IP telephony or Internet radio mode; paragraph 110);

a generating means for generating a second content signal (audio can be generated from another audio-broadcast source; paragraphs 47, 73);

a disabling means for disabling said generating means when a reproducing signal by said reproducing means is said first content signal (selection between audio-broadcast sources is made via selection buttons; paragraph 73), and an activating means for activating said generating means when a reproducing signal by said reproducing means is said telephone voice signal (user can listen to music while conducting telephony simultaneously; paragraph 119).

Regarding claim 2, Internet radio audio and IP telephony audio can be output to either the speaker system or a headset/earpiece (paragraph 10).
